

General

A new user needs directions on how to use this! Where are instructions? A FAQ is not a substitute for a help file or some type of downloadable manual, something?

I can't find settings/options. This got so out of control I had to kill Chrome with Task Manager.

I managed to guess a way to start a download job, but could not stop nor pause it. How about explaining how to start this and use it? The little popup are out of control by default. They cover everything on the edge of the screen, making it useless.

I will be removing it until I get proper instructions to control this thing.

what is this for?

Unique solution ID: #1048

Author: Tim Landers

Last update: 2017-07-04 06:17